Presidents Note

Hello to all of our club members and a shout out to any of our members who were new this year!

The biggest news for this issue is that a number of our members There were competitors under the banners of Sanche Performance Horses, Canabar Farm and Brouwer Performance Horses, The Groots, Hawkstone Ranch and Cold Creek Inc. There were some excellent rides and drives and I would say it was another successful year for the Albertans. In addition to our competitors, a number of Alberta fans journeyed down as well. From all of us who were competing, thanks for cheering us on!

Oklahoma marked the end of the show season around here and with that came the long awaited opportunity to get out on the trail. Three days at Ya Ha Tinda Ranch was a chilly but sunny late October weekend. There were upwards of 20 trailers there despite the -6 degrees at night. We had three peaceful and relaxing rides, with the exception of a frisky, cool morning parade-gait exit from the campground.

As the sun sinks down earlier and the workday on the farm gets shorter, I hope you too find yourself with some time to kick back and recharge.

April 1st and 2nd 2016	CMHA Convention - Saint John Newbrunswick

A Note From The Editor

What an Incredible Fall I have had!! Among the busy to-do list I was able to fit in an amazing Grand national and brought home some fantastic ribbons! What was so overwhelming to me the most was watching my son Brady compete at his first GN. We would be in the hitching ring waiting for his class and he would be looking around counting how many other boys were in his class, not at all worrying about his upcoming entry into the ring! If only we adults could learn to relax like that. He did tell me on occasion to take a deep breath, good thing I took him along!!

As mentioned in the last newsletter I would like to now implement dedicated issues. Jan/Feb – Awards, Mar/Apr – Stallions and breeding, May/June - coloured Morgans and foals, July August – Trail riding and fun with Morgans, Sept/October - Historical, Nov/Dec – Christmas Wishes. Any articles are still welcome in any issue of course.

Have a wonderful Christmas and a relaxing holiday. Maybe a bareback ride through the snow...HEY...what a great idea! Send me your holiday ride pictures to be featured in the Jan/Feb issue along your Awards!!

My Account of Oklahoma 2015...

Never in my wildest dreams did I think I would be going to the Morgan Grand National and World Championship Horse Show! I was able to experience everything from driving there with my horse to being in the show ring with her and getting a ribbon. I really enjoyed having the opportunity to spend so much time with Sydney (FRF Swept Away). I also had fun at the dog show where my dog got 6th place for the tail-wagging contest! She was so cute in her banana costume. Being away from my great-grandpa for Thanksgiving was really hard but it was so nice of Aldona and Betty Tracey to have all of us Canadians for turkey dinner. The most exiting moment was when they announced my name in 4th place for the 10-year-old walk-trot pleasure class. Though it may be a while, I can hardly wait to go back!

Hailey Wickens-Gillen

My name is Brady Groot and my mom and I went to The Grand National this year!

I was so excited to go down to go to the Morgan Grand National and World Championship Morgan Horse Show. The first day at the show I went to trot wood stables to meet Lily last year's 4 year old hunter world champion who I got to ride in my hunter classes. My most memorable class was GN walk trot hunter eq 10 years and got second in the class and got first on a judges card. And in my Western World Championship and I got third out of sixteen. After that me and my mom and my grandma went to the Oklahoma bombing site. It was sad that 168 Americans died. On Thursday my mom went into the World Championship Open Western Trail and won. There was one point in between first and second. All together we had a good trip and I want to go there again but I will do that in the future.

Brady Groot

From all who attended the Thanksgiving supper provided by The Tracey Family...THANK YOU!!! The world is a better place because you're all in it. The AMHC is so fortunate to have you!!

Hard work and Dedication pay big time!

October 2015, GRAND NATIONAL AND MORGAN WORLD CHAMPIONSHIP HORSE SHOW

A story book ending to a great deal of sweat, determination, focus and yes some tears. For Simone Blacklake-Logan, of Edmonton, Alberta and her horse MORGAN HILL FOREVER YOUNG,(ER) this couldn't be more true a story.

Simone has always wanted to compete in the over fences divisions. The jumper ring, to be more specific. The speed, the thrill, the power was such a hook for then pre-teen Simone. "I want to compete in the Olympics, one day", she would say. So lessons upon lessons, school horse after school horse until one day she actually was able to have her own horse. A lovely purebred Arabian mare. Proudly Alberta bred, athletic and kind, but, not gifted over fences!! Simone worked this mare every day. They created a bond and the mare responded to her. They competed in a few shows over the following years, flat classes, and the odd hunter hack class. As Simone's desire to jump higher grew, and her foster parents, Louise and Roger Logan, knew that she needed to upgrade her horse power.

Change is not easy for Simone. She has obstacles in her life to overcome. You see, Simone has FASD: Fetal Alcohol Spectrum Disorder. As a result she has some learning difficulties and issues with self confidence, she sees things as black and white, and there is no "grey" in her life. She doesn't often get the respect she deserves at school, but she is "one of the gang", when she is at the barn. So you see, it is very important to her that she ride every day. Driven by the desire to jump, her coach set out on what surely would be a long task to find the next mount for this young lady. One that could jump, be competitive but yet have the mind to be forgiving to a special needs rider, AND on a budget! It came to Simone's coach's attention that a well known Morgan gelding was up for sale. This was a well shown, well seasoned locally bred, owned and trained gelding. They went out one very cold December day to try him. It was NOT love at first sight. Her coach knew that this was the right horse for Simone, but Simone was not on the same page! He was chubby, fluffy with winter hair and just a little out of shape. This was going to be her next show horse? She had her doubts. This was going to be a change, and change does not come easy for her.

That first ride, he took off, she came off. She really didn't like her new horse. But her coach kept telling her, this was the horse, give him a chance. Months went by and the pair slowly started to figure each other out. Their first show together was a local show with jumper division. Simone learns in a different way than most. So for her to learn three jumper rounds plus a jump off round is not an easy thing. It takes looking at the course, walking the course back in the alley way of the stalls, draw the course on a white board, walking the course on foot, and watching the rounds before hers. She will remember anything that you tell her as far as; back your horse off here; make sure you take this distance in three; and press him here. The most challenging was the first course that had an immediate jump off. So trying to explain how that worked was a challenge. She was able to be the last rider, so it helped her to memorize the course. She had a few rails that first show, but it was a success and she became a little closer to her horse.

Her horse, likes speed! So does Simone. Not always a good combo in the jumper ring when you are still learning the ropes and technique is more important. You know, little things like, how many strides, time allowed, not crossing lines, you know, little things like that! The next show, a local schooling show, jumper division. The coaches' only instruction, after learning the course, walking the course and watching the goes before her, was DO NOT LET HIM GO FAST!!! Keep him balanced and keep the rhythm. Remember I said, Simone, takes everything you say literally, she does not think in grey. There are "grey" areas when you are in the jumper ring. If her coach said to go slow, then slow it will be. Oops, too slow, he was stopping at some of the fences. Oh No! So now, we need to teach this special needs rider how to use his power, but collect that energy at the same time. A very intangible quality to grasp, a "grey" area if you will, for able bodied riders let alone a rider with learning difficulties.

A few more months go by. The team is getting things together. Jumping so well that their coach decided to enter them into the Grand National and Morgan World Championship Horse Show. Now her horse and coach had been down there to compete many times. This was going to be a long way to travel, at great expense for her foster parents for THREE jumper classes. "Do you really think she stands a chance", they would ask the coach. Yes, yes she will be competitive down there. One step closer to her dream....

The month before the show was sketchy. With saddle fitting issues and changing up bridles. There were some muscle issues with working that hard, for horse and rider. Massages all around for horse and rider. More saddle changes. Finally they were ready to make the trip all the way down to Oklahoma. While Simone and her foster mom flew, Simone's coach and a handful of supporters from the stable drove her horse and two others down to the show. He did not travel as well as hoped and arriving with a cough and some weight loss. He had the next four days to rest with some light hand walking. A few light hack rides and more equipment tweaks. Simone was busy going over her first course with immediate jump off. For Simone's coach, that would mean teaching her the entire thing as one. Not this is the first part; if it's clear, wait for the buzzer then do the next part. Simone doesn't learn that way. She was fortunate to be able to have a print out of the course before hand to study, and then she would draw the course on the white board, then walk it in the alley way, then walk it with her coach. Pointing out where to push him, where to bring him back. She was able to go second in her first Grand National class, so she was able to watch the person ahead of her go. That helps her learn. First rider was fast...so fast that she had a rail, but well within the time. Simone and her horse were next, her coach told her to give him a tap three strides out from the first fence. Remember, she remembers all that she is told: so TAP she did. ER went off like a rocket! She was clear and within the time allowed, however, she did get a little mixed up coming into fence 5, so she circled off and took it after the circle, so she had a fault and a slower time than the first rider, so she ended up Reserve National Champion in that class. Simone was very hard on herself about forgetting the 5th fence. Very down on herself. Her coach pointed out the great distances she made and how technically correct the rest of the course had been. I should add that the World Champion title is made up of the High Point standings of all three of the classes. So she was tied for second place in the high point standings.

The next day, Grand National Jumper II Simone had the chance to read the course, walk it, draw it and then walk it again. She was able to go second again, so was able to watch the first rider go. Table B, so immediate jump off. She had to learn the course and the jump off as one. The first rider was clear and moved into her jump off round. Reckless speed and she takes a rail. Simone was told to ride forward, but don't take chances. Just go clear. And clear she did! National Champion title was hers for that round. At ribbon presentation, her concern to her coach was that she may not have ridden that bending line quite the way her coach wanted her to. You see, she doesn't care about the ribbons. Her concern was if the coach was happy with her ride and that it was a better ride than the previous one. How refreshing. She had now captured the hearts of the officials. She was now tied for Champion high point with one round to go.

Day three, Grand National jumper III. With her learning difficulties, it is helpful for her to follow another rider. She had been following one rider. Surprisingly enough, since the last days classes, there had been a complaint lodged against Simone, in that the order of go was unfair and she had to go first. Sportsmanship at its finest! Table A, not immediate jump off. Between her going first and not able to watch, and then having to come out of the ring and quickly learn a "new course", the odds were against her for this deciding High Point make it or break it round. She walked the course, knew where she had to push him and where to make him wait. Her coach had not told her that she had to go first. After they walked the course, her coach suggested to her that she was riding well enough that maybe she would like to go first. Simone was delighted that her coach thought she was riding well enough to go first. Just go clear, Simone. And clear round she did! There was a marked change in technique for the second rider, this round instead of her reckless speed, she went slow and careful. Clear. We had ourselves a jump off round. That gave Simone's coach 62 seconds to teach her "a new course". Simone does not do change well, this hasty course learning was different from how she normally learns, the gate swings open...This jump off round would decide the World Champion Title.

Clear! Simone went clear and well within the time allowed. She came out of the ring and asked her coach if she was happy with her ride. With tears in her eyes, the coach just said, "Yup, you rode well".

That's all Simone needed to hear. She was happy with her horse. The second rider canters into the ring. She knew the time she needed to beat. First two fences were controlled and pretty, then it was like she couldn't help herself and the reckless speed came back. Third fence, fourth, one more outside turn to the last fence, with a smouldering fast time, last fence, three strides, two strides, one stride, up and DOWN comes the top rail!

Simone just captured the World Champion Title!!! A perfect way to end her junior exhibitor years.

During ribbon presentation, her main concern was if she could take a victory jump fence with her ribbons on. How humbled we all felt at that moment. Her only comment after the victory picture was how happy she was with her horse.

Technique, hard work and dedication to detail does pay off over speed in the jumpers! She wanted to jump high, and her coach kept telling her grid work, foot work and flat will give you the advantage in the end. Simone and ER went on later that day to win two Top 10 titles in the hack division.

Her next goal is to ride at Spruce Meadows.

If you've ever thought of heading out to the Ya Ha but weren't sure what to expect, maybe this will help!

The route from Sundre is straightforward and takes about 1.5 hours.

From Sundre, leave town on Highway 584 (paved) and turn south (left) onto Range Road 63 (paved but rough). Where you turn right onto the Forestry Trunk Road (734) it turns into excellent gravel highway. The Forestry Trunk Road will turn left across a bridge; instead, stay straight and the road turns into Ya Ha Tinda Road. This is a very good gravel road. Follow for a ways. Once you pass the Ya Ha Tinda Ranch gate, the road becomes narrow and curvy. Drive slow, you may have to stop for a passing vehicle. The Bighorn Campground will be on your right.

The campground is maintained by the Friends of the Eastern Slopes Association – find them on Facebook. There are pit toilets, a river for watering horses and open areas for camping. Many areas accommodate multiple rigs. Fire pits are the only markers of sites. The campground will accommodate rigs of all sizes and throughout the campground are banks of three or six tie stalls. They are well built and have mangers and a frame over them to put a tarp up to keep the rain off your horses. There is an area designated to use panels and you can also tie your horses to your trailer. The campground is free but you should purchase an annual membership to The Friends of the Eastern Slopes Association. This is how the funds are generated to maintain the campground area.

Few tips!

- Map and other info: http://www.pc.gc.ca/~media/pn-np/ab/banff/activ/cheval-horse/yahatinda/activ35_bro_e.ashx
- Bear country! Put your dog food, sweet feed, bbq, cooler, etc. in a secure place
- Busy in the summer, arrive mid-week for best camp selection
- Firewood is not provided, bring your own
- Drinking water is unavailable at the campground.
- There is no cell service
- Bring a rope to tie your dog
- Respect nature and your surroundings – take your garbage out with you and do not tie to trees

These are the ones that I know for sure went and did well!
If I missed your name I apologize!

Congratulations to our Adults

Shari Groot and Simone Blacklake Logan who both brought home World Championship Titles in trail and Open Jumper! WHOOT!
Cathy Gillen for her first time being in the show ring in her masters driving
Vern Baron for a great showing in the gentleman's western pleasure
Way to go David and Rein for all your accomplishments this year as well
Robin, Skye and Deb for a great show (I love your parade costumes)

I know I have missed some and I apologize to those people but please know that we appreciate what you do to show the rest of the world that we Canadians can compete with the rest of the world!

As for the rest of the Zone it has been quiet.

Currently we are selling our poinsettias. These are sold to raise money for our awesome year end awards. Please support the CMHA if you want to keep receiving cool prizes for your hard work!

I would also like to thank on a HUGE level the Volunteers for all their help this year with the fundraising for both the Alberta Club and the CMHA without dedicated people we would not have awards for our show and for the awards for both the CMHA and Club Levels and the super fun gala at the end of the year. We have been having trouble finding volunteers to help fill these positions and it is imperative that we do or as I said we will not be able to have the level of awards and galas that we have had in the past.

Keep up the good work! Keep smiling! and keep having fun!

Pre-Purchase Examination

Purchasing a horse is a big investment of your time, money and emotions. When buying horses, there are never guarantees of future soundness and health, however pre-purchase exams allow you to determine the horse's health status at a given point in time prior to purchase.

During pre-purchase exams the veterinarian is working for the buyer. Pre-purchase exams typically include history taking, a thorough physical examination, palpation of soft tissue structures and a lameness evaluation with flexion tests. The basic pre-purchase exam may alert us to potential problems. Radiographs, ultrasound, endoscopy or bloodwork may be recommended. If you are interested in buying a horse for breeding purposes, a breeding soundness examination should be performed.

The purpose of the pre-purchase is to help provide you, the buyer, with enough information to make an informed decision as to whether the horse will meet your needs. It is important to remember however that the final decision to purchase the horse is yours to make.

If you are interested in scheduling a pre-purchase exam or have questions about what this may involve, please call West Wind Veterinary Hospital 780-662-0112.
